

Spanish Teacher (part-time)

Posted 3/15/17

Pope John Paul II High School is seeking a part-time Spanish teacher to teach two classes in the 2017-2018 school year. Although the courses will likely be introductory courses, the ability to teach upper level courses would be preferred since we are a vibrant and growing school; this part-time position could expand into a full time role in future years. With the mentorship of our experienced Spanish teachers, this teacher will be expected to create an immersion-like environment for the students where communication in the target language is encouraged and eventually required. The ideal candidate has the ability to convey to students a love of the Spanish language and the Hispanic culture. Other important qualifications include the willingness to implement technology for lessons and assignments, as well as collaborate with other teachers in order to execute an aligned curriculum.

We seek applicants who can be models of life-long learners for our students and who are open to engaging in critical discussions about pedagogy. Likewise, in this Catholic institution, applicants should model a commitment to faith and truth, building relationships to help students realize their own dignity.

Finalists for the position will be invited to interview and will be asked to teach a sample lesson entirely in the target language. Interested applicants should email department chair Veronica Del Valle (veronica.delvalle@jp2hs.org) and Andrew Griffith (andrew.griffith@jp2hs.org) with the following:

- A cover letter explaining the applicant's interest in working at this dynamic Catholic School, as well as explaining the applicant's general approach to teaching Spanish.
- A resume complete with references.
